NORTH CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL, SPOKANE, WASHINGTON

Forward

Many years ago, Indians used the smooth bark of the Tamarack tree for their writings of tribal history and traditions. In the same way, the Tamarack of 1955 includes, with its presentation of the year's history, the best of North Central legend and traditions.

For the first time, school colors of Red and Black have been used as the color scheme. A little Indian, adorning the division pages, proudly reminds us that Indians have been symbolic of our school since 1923.

The greatest part of our North Central tradition could not be pictured with paper and ink, however. It is the role which we ourselves have played in upholding the outstanding accomplishments of the past and erecting a firm framework for the future, the pride and loyalty we feel as we see our Indian braves in action, hear our fight songs and our alma mater.

Will these feelings be difficult to relinquish as we move on to new challenges? Or are they mere bits of youthful emotion?

No, these have been the happiest years of our lives. steppingstones on which we will walk to a greater world of tomorrow.

Principal Joseph M. Tewinkel

It always seems odd to be asked, the middle of November, to write a message to the graduating class of the following June.

In November our thoughts are centered on the grand American holiday of Thanksgiving. Perchance "thanksgiving" isn't too remote a theme for the Class of June 1955!

Twelve school-year calendars and about $3,000 of school-tax money have gone into the life of each member of this fine class. It IS a fine class. Add to this tax outlay another $10,000 to $15,000 which each family has spent on the son or daughter of its pride, and you have a formidable outlay.

America believes in its youth.

"Three thousand dollars, from the public treasury'? Wow, that would have bought me a swell convertible!"

It surely would have. And in five years the convertible would have sagged in value to a bargain-lot "Today Only — $395."

Instead, you've been given schooling which easily can yield $100,000, a quarter million, even more, within your lifetime. All for an investment of $3,000, which you didn't have! Five years, ten years, fifty years from now, you'll be thankful for your high school diploma. Gratitude is a wonderful attribute. Maybe it wouldn't be amiss to practice a little of it at this commencement time.

Those are your "folks" out in the commencement crowd — mother crying just a little, for some silly reason, and dad, proud but with a lump in his throat. Over there in the corner are some teachers who saw possibilities in you and worked on those possibilities just as much as you'd let them! It might not hurt to say, "Thank you," at this exciting time of June graduation.

For we love you and wish you well.

VICE-PRINCIPAL AND FACULTY ADVISERS — Seated: Vice-Principal Robert J. Hoesly. Standing: Patricia Damon, ASB and girls' adviser; Lowell C. Bradford, boys' adviser.

Capable faculty advisers uphold our tradition, preparing us with new skills for the future,

The Home Economics Department offers instruction in Child Development, Social Relations, Home Furnishings, Clothing, Foods and Advanced Homemaking.

In Child Development, girls study the preschool-age child. Each girl spends a portion of class time in a nursery school where she has an opportunity to watch the age-group children about which she has learned in her assigned reading and class discussion.

In Social Relations they study "getting along with people," etiquette, entertaining, dating, marriage and budgeting.

Planning and decorating homes — the study of floor plans, the judging of an already built house, architectural styles, color schemes, draperies and curtains, rugs and upholstery fabrics, furniture arrangement, and painting and wallpapering — make up the course in Home Furnishings.

Beginning Clothing starts with simple clothing construction and buymanship and ranges up to the advanced work in clothing and tailoring.

Basic nutrition and preparation of foods are studies in Foods I. The role of hostess is emphasized in Advanced Foods Class along with further knowledge of nutrition and the preparation of food for entertaining.

HOME ECONOMICS — Seated: Joanna J. Reed, Child Development; Christine G. Neuman, Clothing; Elizabeth Killingsworth, Department Head. Standing: Helen I. Beaver, Clothing; Joan R. Kopf, Social Relations.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT — Seated: Wilhelmine Timm, Biology; Raymond Simonson, Biology; Donald Bonamy, Biology. Standing: Ernest Hix, Department Head; Paul Tobie, Biology; Edward Anderson, General Science; Orval Theisen, Physics; George Smith, Biology.

Over eleven hundred students are enrolled each semester in the various science courses. These students are in the six sciences: General Science, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Photography and Geology.

Through General Science, students gain an introduction to all fields of science. Then comes Biology, the study of living things. The biology laboratory is well equipped with movies and specimens to enable the student to learn about the human body, plants and animals.

Chemistry is the study of what things are composed of and the changes they undergo. Such things as atomic energy, radio activity, and the composition of foods and fabrics are taught.

Dealing with electricity, sound, light, heat, mechanics and other physical aspects of our complicated world is the course in Physics. Both the chemistry and physics laboratories are well equipped for experiments and demonstrations.

Photography offers the knowledge of how to take pictures, how to operate picture-taking devices, how to take better pictures, and how to develop, print and enlarge them. Geology offers the study of rocks, minerals, changes in the earth and earth composition.

helping us use our minds in the uncovering of our civilization's great unchanging secrets.

Mathematics ranges in difficulty from elementary arithmetic, studied in some freshman classes, to subjects on the college level. Although only one year of mathematics is required for graduation, many sophomores elect Plane Geometry. This year about one hundred twenty juniors are enrolled in Advanced Algebra, and more than fifty seniors are taking a fourth year of mathematics consisting mainly of Solid Geometry and Trigonometry.

Most students are aware that the completion of two years of high school mathematics is required for entrance to many colleges. Boys, especially, are faced with the fact that every reputable engineering school in the country has a prerequisite of at least three years of mathematics and that nearly all of these schools recommend four years. To prepare themselves properly in this age of mechanization and electrification, intelligent students know that mathematics is indispensable.

Recent developments in the field of automatic computers demand many more college trained mathematicians than are available. Each large machine of this type. requires at least ten or fifteen analytical experts to program its operations and to control its sequences.

MATHEMATICS — Seated: P. H. Nygaard, Department Head; Dorothy A. Congdon, Geometry; Lowry M. Bennett, Algebra; Standing: Kenneth Moore, Algebra; Burrill Exley, Geometry; Robert F. Barnard, Algebra; R. A. Baldwin, Algebra.

To use English effectively as one of the essential tools of living, it is necessary to learn to read and interpret it and perfect it. The Language Arts Course attempts to help young people grow in power of expression, find ease in communication, appreciate great values in literature, and enjoy more keenly all life experiences.

Various courses are offered; for example, Debate, Drama, Speech, Journalism, Vocational English, Senior Literature, Senior Composition and Vocabulary, besides everyday English.

In Debate, the students learn how and where to find materials in the library, how to organize subject matter, and how to present an effective and convincing argumentative speech. From the Debate Class are chosen the varsity debate squad members. The squad participates in many debates with high schools both within and outside the city and belongs to the Northeast District Debate League of this state.

Beginning Drama students gain a brief study of the history, background and terminology of the theater. Instruction in acting and work on one-act plays are started. Then in Advanced Drama the work is continued and carried further into the theory and practice of acting and producing plays.

We learn the beauties of our mother tongue

To solve the problem of speaking formally or informally, a course in Speech is offered. An essential prerequisite is the willingness to try to speak.

Open to those with an interest in or a flair for writing is a course in Journalism. In Advanced Journalism the students work on The North Central News and become eligible for appointment to the Tamarack staff.

Foreign Language courses include Latin I, II, III and IV; and Spanish I, II, III and IV.

Both the reading and writing of Latin are practiced. Instruction is given in vocabulary and grammar of the language and its relation to modern English especially in the matter of English derivatives and Latin roots of English words. Roman life, its influence in our own society, in literature, art and architecture, is also stressed.

In Spanish, one learns the language, customs, and daily living conditions of the people of South and Central America as well as of Spain. Projects in reading both in Spanish and English about the cultures of the Spanish-speaking peoples are engaged in. Classroom conversation in Spanish is a highlight of the course. The effect on our own speech is a vital consideration.

and are trained to use it easily and naturally;

COMMERCIAL — Seated: Mary Bowker, Shorthand; James O. Griggs, Department Head; Helen Stockdale, Typing. Standing: A. A. Manfred, Typing; Marjorie Collard, Typing; Edward B. Feldhusen, Typing; Alvin Danielson, Typing; Blair Glover, Bookkeeping.

More than eleven hundred students chose commercial subjects this year, some for personal reasons and some for vocational. The department offers four semesters each of Typewriting, Shorthand and Bookkeeping, and a two-semester course in Office Practice. Beginning Typewriting is the most popular, with about four hundred students learning to operate the machine by touch. Four sections of Advanced Typewriting were filled by those who wished to increase their proficiency in the use of the machine.

Some two hundred delved into the mysteries of Shorthand for the first time, while about sixty continued the study for the second year, hoping to find employment in the secretarial field. The problems of debit and credit occupied six large classes of beginning bookkeepers with one group studying the more intricate problems of partnerships and corporations.

Four classes in Office Practice studied methods of operation of office machines, filing methods, arithmetic, spelling, business English and many miscellaneous things that need to be known by office workers.

Six credits earned in the department constitute a major and any four a minor.

we gain practical and vocational experience, and appreciation of the heritage of our land.

The Social Studies Department offers a wide range of subjects to satisfy the requirements of the state for graduation from high school. These same subjects are of interest to our students who wish to be informed citizens of our country.

Washington History is a required subject and is offered in the ninth grade, along with English in a unit class. Sophomores enroll in World History and World Geography.

Juniors as well as seniors may enroll in one semester of American Government followed by a semester of International Relations; or a semester of Consumer Economics followed by Problems of American Democracy. Students must earn credits in two subjects for graduation.

Every boy and girl entering North Central above the ninth grade must enroll in Northwest History to satisfy the requirement in Washington History. It is an elective for other students as well. United States History is required by the state for graduation and must be taken in the senior year.

For graduation a student must have earned four credits in Social Studies above the ninth grade in addition to Washington History.

The Industrial Arts courses provide a basic “learning by doing” training out of which come intelligent and satisfied consumers, better producers and more useful citizens. The six areas of work cover drafting, woodworking, metal, electronics, auto mechanics and plastics. About 87 per cent of the boys in school are enrolled.

Drafting includes three divisions of drawing — mechanical, architectural and machine.

Mechanical drawing teaches the use of instruments, lettering, the various types of projection, development of surfaces and problems in perspective.

Architectural drawing is the study of building and materials, types of construction, floor plans and elevations. In Advanced Architectural Drawing each student makes a complete set of plans for a residential structure of his own choice.

Machine Drawing offers instruction in the various types of fastenings, various forms of power transmissions and the drawing of machines.

Woodworking teaches the proper use of hand tools and power tools.

Metal I is the study of and the work with sheet metal, art metal, machine shop practice and forging.

By knowing the skilled crafts of our fathers, and hearing of their cultural achievements,

The Art Department offers many courses in the visual arts and crafts. The student may enroll in the basic arts followed by illustration, watercolor, oils and advanced painting. For variety there are Crafts, Lettering, Commercial Art, Stage Design and Jewelry.

Objectives of these courses are to give art students an opportunity to experiment in the various art media, to develop a keener appreciation for the artistic and to encourage their creative desires.

The library seats are filled every period every day with boys and girls doing reference work, reading magazines, selecting and reading library books or studying from their textbooks.

A number of students assist the librarians by checking out books, acting as monitors and reshelving books and magazines.

For those interested in music, courses offered include: Orchestra, Choir, Girls' Glee Club, Three Fives, Teepee Lighters, Harmony, Music History and Appreciation, Boys' Glee Club, Senior Band, Junior Band and Pep Band.

The Music Department presents a winter and spring festival. Small choral and instrumental groups entertain during the year at civic and social meetings.

MUSIC, LIBRARY, ART — Seated: Madeline Carroll, Library Head; Mary K. Parker, Art; Mervin Manuel, Art; Lowell C. Bradford, Band Director. Standing: Kenneth C. Mhyre, Art Department Head; Ruby M. Keen, Assistant Librarian; W. Stanley Taft, Music Department Head.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND STUDY HALLS — Seated: William Nye, Study Hall; Jerry Stannard, Physical Education; Elsa Pinkham, Department Head. Standing: Gladys Dunphy, Study Hall; William Diedrick, Physical Education; Eleanor Dixon, Physical Education.

Physical health and bodily well-being are heritages that one must put forth effort to keep. The Physical Education Department offers the student its fine facilities and leadership not only for the betterment of his health but also as a source of enjoyment.

In the Boys' Physical Education Department a vigorous program is offered with organized play, touch football, basketball, mass tumbling, volleyball, calisthenics, softball and handball in the regular gym classes.

Besides the supervised classes of boxing, wrestling, combatives, stunts and tumbling, there is a corrective gym equipped with apparatus for developing various muscles, and an aquatic program which has the Red Cross standards.

For girls, the department offers such competitive sports as basketball, volleyball, badminton, softball, tennis and golf, horseback riding and skating.

Sponsored by this department are the Red Feather group, headed by Elsa M. Pinkham, and the Color Girl group, led by Eleanor A. Dixon. The groups sponsor the fall and the spring pageants, appear in stunts, in parades and in other productions during the school year.

League members sponsor various projects,

Organized in 1918 by Miss Jessie Gibson, the Girls' League is a service group striving always to attain high ideals—honor, service and loyalty—as symbolized by the League pin.

The ruling body of the League is the Central Council, composed of homeroom representatives and elected officers.

Among the many events of the fall semester were the annual Dad-Daughter banquet and the "Frosti Frolics" mixer. The League also sponsored the PTA membership drive, a fall style show and the selling of booster hats. Aid was given to a teen-age girls' home at Christmas time.

A Big Sister award was presented for the first time this year to Joy Decker as the most outstanding big sister—the evaluation being done by her little sister.

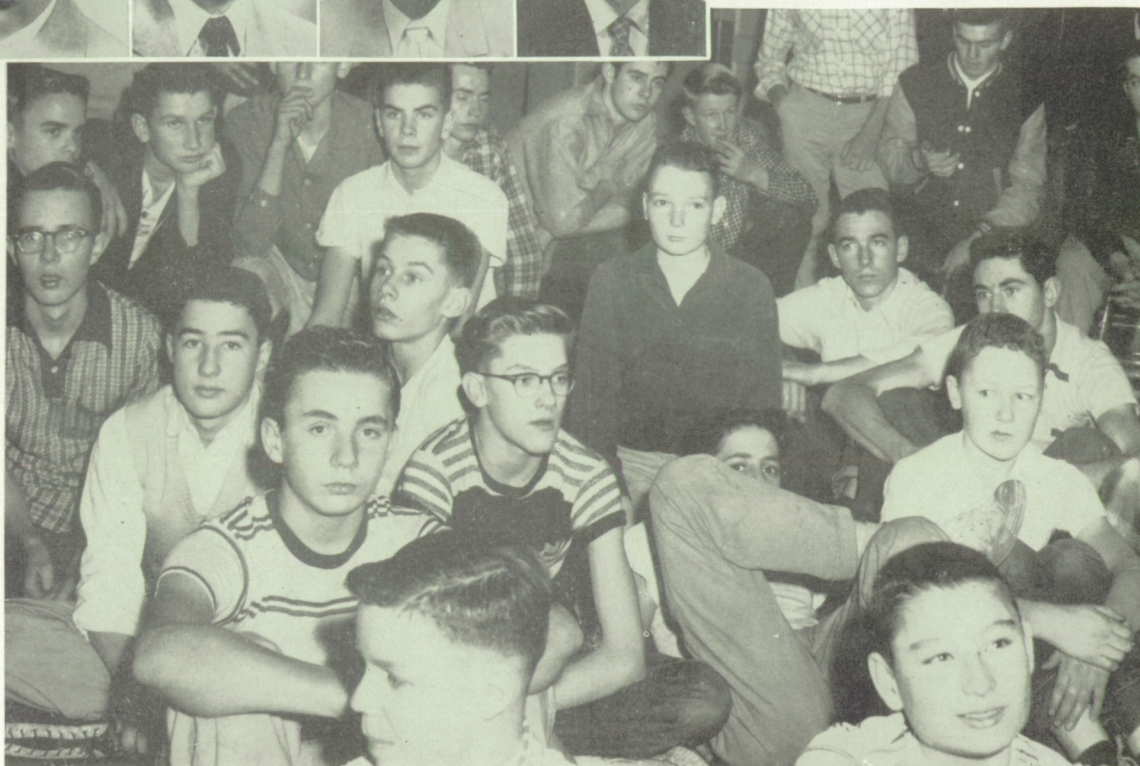

Awarding pins to honor-roll girls is a perennial activity of the League. To be on the League honor roll, a girl must have “C” grades or better and have earned League points by service to the school.

Annual Cotton Day was held April 5, highlighted by a mixer in the evening. Other spring activities included co-sponsorship of the vocational conferences, a style show, a Mothers’ tea and a college panel for interested junior and senior girls.

The Archie Buckley Inspirational

orama of the year's activities. No one seems to know the real reason why former principal Richard Hargraves suggested the name "Tamarack" for the yearbook, but forty years of annuals bearing that name have made it an important—if elusive—tradition.

Besides planning the theme, the color schemes, and the layouts of the book, staff members write and prepare the copy, help arrange and identify pictures, and check printed "proofs."

A concentrated sales campaign headed by Dick Green and sparked by senior class members sold an all-time high of 1755 books this year. Journalism I and News staff members helped with the campaign in the homerooms.

For many years, Tamaracks have won high honors. Last year's book, besides re-

March 9 and 10. Members of the faculty and student body made up the cast. Principal student production was the "Circus Extravaganza," directed by Dick Green, while faculty members participated in two short plays: "The Potboilers," directed by Mrs. Genevieve Oppen; and "Liverbache and his relatives," directed by Miss Elsa Pinkham.

First event of the year was an open house, giving parents and faculty a chance to become acquainted. Because of time limitations, the open house was split between the October and November meetings.

Floyd E. Fenton, who was elected president of the group in the fall, accepted a position with the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C. in January; so Harvey Edwards, first vice-president, took over the chair for the remainder of the year.

Abolition of protective tariffs was the theme along which varsity debaters talked their way to victories in the 1955 season.

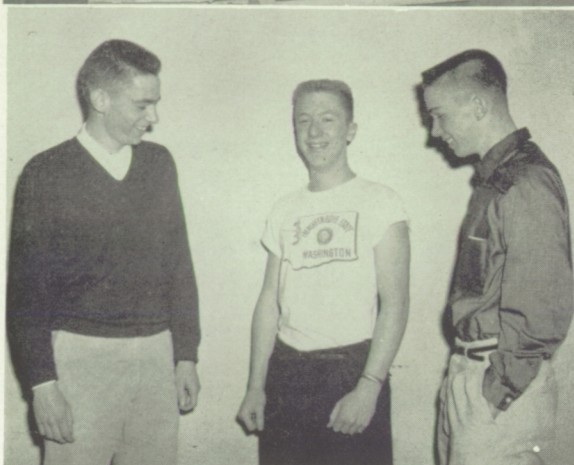

Besides tying for first place in the Northeast District round-robin, seniors Carole McNew and Jerry Fenton received the two best-speaker trophies; and first place at the state-wide Pacific Lutheran College Tournament was won by Bob Dickey and Diane Wilson. Twenty-five teams of advanced and beginning debaters entered in the annual Gonzaga Tournament also did well.

"We had a fairly outstanding and successful debating season," Arthur B. Miller, coach and manager of the League, said. "There is every prospect for an equally successful future."

Boys' and Girls' State

Sponsored by the American Legion, outstanding students from every high school in the state are given a lasting lesson in citizenship at Girls' and Boys' State. Nominees from the Junior class were interviewed last spring by a committee from the Legion who chose two girls and four boys. A district get-together in May helped delegates of this area meet one another before the session on the campus of Central Washington College. Learning by doing gave them practical experience in three levels of government.

Campaigning for various offices was an exciting phase of the program. Each delegate was assigned to a party and helped promote its platform. By exchanging ideas they can return, as seniors, to their respective schools and be effective leaders. Boys' State was held for a week in June; Girls' State in July.

Productions

Productions play a vital role each year.

Convocations presented in 1954-1955 were many and varied—pep convocations, the fund-raising programs, the vocational meeting—some inspirational, some purely entertaining. Double convocations allowing the entire student body to attend were held for most of the events, but there were also several invitational convocations for specific classes or groups.

During the football and basketball seasons, pep convocations preceded many of the games. These were sponsored by the ASB, the school clubs, or other groups. Girls' League and Boys' Federation sponsored several convocations, some for award presentations and others featuring guest speakers and entertainers. Special convocations, such as those at Thanksgiving and Christmas were presented by the ASB in the student interest.

Among other outstanding convocations were those for the Red Cross, the March of Dimes and Rally Day.

Duff McKee, co-master of ceremonies in the ASB Talent Show for needy families, talks over last-minute arrangements with comedy pianist Martha Winton.

"That Was YOUR Life" announcer Ed Ralphwards (Daisy Henry) tells horrified teacher, Jake Malterner, in the Vox Puellarum convocation. He is being embraced by Michel (Deanna Jenkinson).

Our band is guided by experienced hands.

The band, under the direction of Lowell C. Bradford, has continued for thirty-two years to add to school traditions. Fall membership this year was 160; and spring membership 150.

Marching season opened with the band and Red Feathers presenting "Life of an American Girl" at the Merry-Go-Round game. These groups participated also in half-time stunts in four other games. On the opening night of the new Coliseum, they presented the "North Central Waltz," which was featured in Life Magazine.

Marching band participated again this year in the Washington State Apple Blossom festival at Wenatchee, April 28-31; in the annual Lilac Parade; and in the Memorial Day parade.

A fifty-member special band entertained at pep convocations, at the Christmas convocation, at basketball games, and presented a concert at Havermale Junior High.

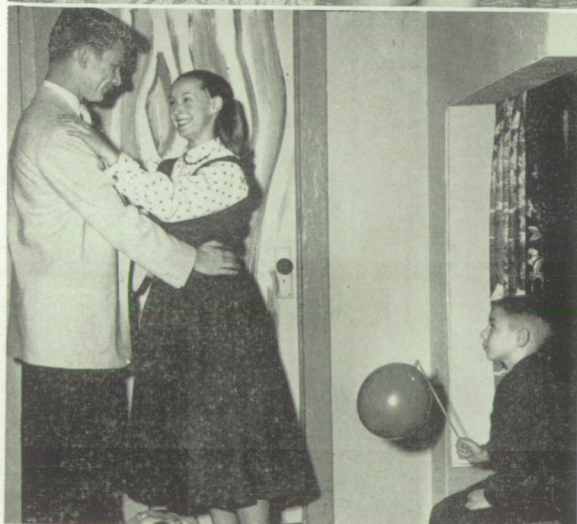

Under the student leadership of Mike Praetorius, the twenty-member pep band played at morning dances, convocations, the PTA Vaudeville show, and the legislative luncheon of United School groups.

Drama students strive

"The Little Dog Laughed," according to an old rhyme, "to see such sport"; but undoubtedly he had never seen such mirth-provoking sport as was engagingly told in the unique stage story that North Central dramatists presented in the school auditorium, November 18 and 19, under the direction of Mrs. Genevieve Oppen.

Ann Charlene Martinson ably filled the lead part as Laura Huntington, a college sophomore majoring in psychology, who, upon returning home on a summer vacation, decides her family is "a bunch of psychological knots."

TOP—A jealous business feud between two fathers, portrayed by Dick Batdorf and Jerry Miller, is climaxed in this paint-slinging scene which brought down the house in the all-school play, "The Little Dog Laughed."

Laura's method of applying psychology to her friends and family proves to be very entertaining. The house soon becomes a jumble of note books and strange looking blocks, and everybody is getting word association tests, a blood to the brain test and intelligence tests.

Laura has the whole family—including "Gus" the maid, played by Sharon Wilson—running around with various types of thermometers in their mouths, trying to find their "energy peaks," or times of day when all their work should be done.

Romance appears in the play when Laura meets Mark Graham, a young medical student, portrayed by Dennis Anderson. Wally, Laura's obnoxious but likeable brother, is head over heels in love with Joan Wood, played by Marilee Syler. The latter romance was a great distress to Mr. Huntington, portrayed by Jerry Miller, who was having a feud with Joan's father, played by Dick Batdorf. A paint slinging fight between the two men brought the house down.

Glenn Bradley's characterization of Horatio P. Honeywell, a bird-loving character, almost had the crowd rolling in the aisles.

The play was a tremendous success and won much acclaim for the drama classes.

to perfect their eagerly anticipated plays.

The little dog's laughter is all but ignored by Laura as she teaches her kid brother Wally (Dick Green) that he can study best with his head down and his feet up. The all-school play was presented in November.

"Sparkle" is added to the beautiful ballet costumes of these dancers in the Nutcracker Suite of the Winter Festival. Left to right are Sharon and Marilee Syler, and Eilene and Arlene West.

These and other events instill in us a respect for the cultural beauties of the musical arts.

Under the direction of W. Stanley Taft, the Winter Music Festival, presented December 13 and 14, was one of the "big" events of the year.

Members of the choir, the orchestra, the Tepee Lighters and the Three Fives made up the cast of the production, a combined replacement of the operettas and winter festivals of former years.

A matinee performance for the student body was given December 13, and evening performances were on December 13 and 14.

The orchestra opened the program with the "Christmas Carol Fantasy," followed by the Tepee Lighters and Three Fives presenting religious and traditional songs.

Assisted by soft lighting and beautiful costumes, the group sang such selections as "White Christmas," "Ave Maria" and "The Sleigh."

Mike Praetorius, pianist, presented a solo, "Etude de Concert," which was met with tremendous applause.

Highlight of the Festival was the presentation of Fred Waring's arrangement of the "Nutcracker Suite" by Tschaikowsky, featuring the choir, the orchestra, a large group of dancers and duo pianists. Miss Pinkham gave her time before and after school to teach the dancers their routines.

Vocal leads in the presentation were Diane Burdick, Beverly Etchepare and Ann Rymond. Pianists were Elaine Hieber and Merlee Conrath.

Forty student dancers were featured. Leads were Ann Charlene Martinson, Larri Reynolds, Worth Martin and Dick Green.

The program was closed with a benediction and the "Amen Chorus" by Gerald Hartley, North Central graduate and a former member of the music faculty.

Costumes for the production were designed and made by Mrs. Beaver's costuming class.

Lighters, Three Fives and Boys' Glee Club provide excellent outlets for talented students.

Under the direction of W. Stanley Taft, head of the department, and the student directors, they have completed a busy winter and spring schedule.

Tepee Lighters provided music for the Christmas Concert, the YWCA Talent Show, the "Spring Music Festival" and the Veterans' Hospital Christmas Program.

Sixty-five voices strong, the Choir — along with the Orchestra, the Three Fives, and the Girls' Glee Club — participated in the "Winter Music Festival" in December and the "Spring Music Festival" in May, both in the school auditorium.

The group also sang at the Jefferson Street Christian Church, Whitworth College, Greater Spokane Music Festival; and presented a Christmas radio broadcast for the Washington Water Power Company.

gram, Eastern Star Banquet, Masonic Installations, Junior Chamber of Commerce Retail Association, Shrine Installation, Mu Phi Music Honorary, Spokane Auto Show, and various church groups.

Boys' Glee, a new choral society, was established the second semester of this year under the direction of David Holmes. The group, composed of 36 members from all classes, meets every fourth period in the auditorium.

"Boys' Glee specializes in four-part music, mostly spiritual," said Mr. Holmes.

The major activity undertaken by the Glee Club was their participation in the "Spring Music Festival." David Higbee served as president of the newly formed group.

Members also work on special projects for other school groups, such as the hair crowns which they made for the Three Fives.

Opening the season with second place in the annual Merry-Go-Round game, the Warriors defeated their MGR foe, Lewis and Clark's Tigers. But the victories were soon matched with losses, as they tumbled before Walla Walla's Blue Devils and then the league-leading Rogers Pirates.

Nor did the concluding game of the first half provide any consolation, for the Indian Braves there suffered their biggest defeat, 48 to 0, from Gonzaga Prep.

Determined now to repeat their midseason comeback of last year, the Indians again flattened the Tigers after losing to Yakima a week

But the season ended just as UN-glamorously, as Gonzaga's "Bull-preps" rolled up a victory margin of 46 points. That finished the Indians, according to statistics, in the Columbia Basin league's cellar and the city league's third place.

Hours of practice

B Squad Warriors of 1954 had a six-one win-loss record and a championship season, as they tied with the Lewis and Clark junior varsity for the city B league championship.

With Norman Harding at the quarterback position and John Derington, Ron Quincy, Farrel Romig and Mike Hammond doing the running, the jayvees averaged over 300 yards per game. Opening holes in the opposing team's line were Ron Restad, Ray Mason, Gary Houdak, Joe Marchioro, Dave Ricketts, Jack Wrenn and Ernie Smith.

Beginning the season with an 18-0 loss to Lewis and Clark, B Squadders continued the rest of the season without defeat. By a score of 40-13 they avenged their earlier loss to the South Side Tigers, to close the season in a first-place tie.

Coach David Holmes' 1954 freshman football squad wound up its fall campaign with second place in the city league. Finishing league play with two wins, one loss to Lewis and Clark, and one tie with Rogers, the Papoosemen defeated Cheney B squadders, 33-13, and Mead frosh, 13-6.

Quarterbacking the Injun Greenies was Dennis Spurlock. Chris Schears and Don Lobdell operated from the halfback slots and fullback was Ivan Payne. Scoring leader for the little Papooses and also the league was Chris Schears. Gary Koeppel and Gerald Davis alternated at left end; Ernie Nye, left tackle; Glen Ellis and Raleigh Clark alternated at left guard, and David Peelgren and Russell Foster traded off at center. Kent Kitsmiller was at right guard, Larry Saling at right tackle and Jerry Barton held down the right end slot.

Coordinating mind with body, we hear the cheering crowds. The tense minutes pass.

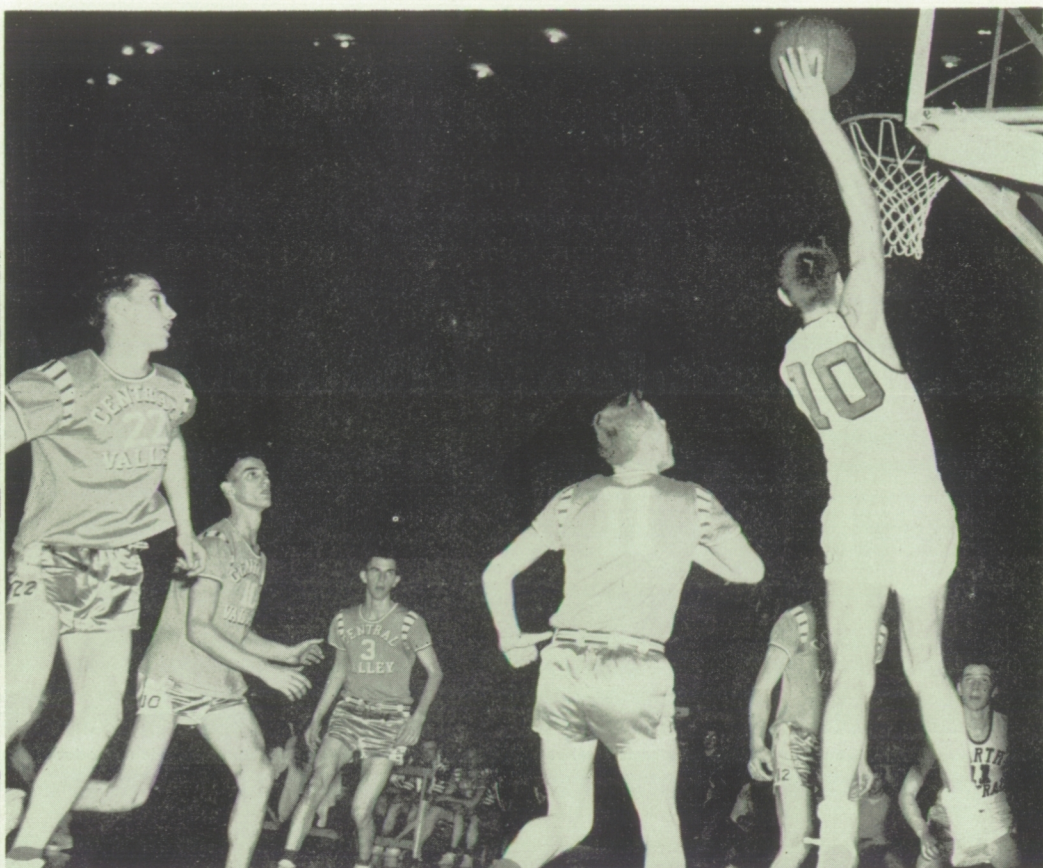

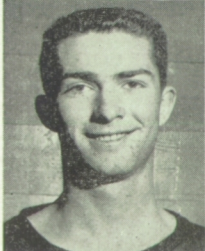

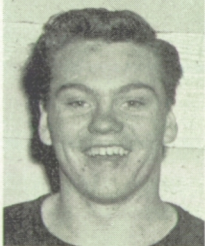

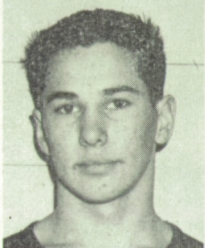

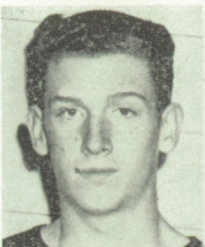

Although starting the season slow, Coach Jerry Stannard's 1955 varsity basketball squad came out on the long end of some important tilts to tie for second place in the city league. The Tribe's finish was identical to last season, when the dropping of two contests to West Valley and Gonzaga also finished the Indians in the bridesmaid position.

Re-entrance of Central Valley High School into city league play in the new Spokane Coliseum heralded the toughest race for the city prep basketball championship in Spokane history, as demonstrated by a volley of single and double-point victories. Figured to be one of the top contenders at the beginning of the season, the Indian casabamen couldn't seem to put together a consistent winning combo and wound up sporting a 5-5 win-loss record.

Included in the Warrior victories were a 59-57 upset of Gonzaga's city title holders, highlighted by a record-breaking splurge of scoring by Indian Bob Biel; and a 38-37 victory over highly favored West Valley.

Opening the season with a 54-50 loss to the underdog Rogers Pirates in overtime, the Red and Black squad was leveled again by Squinty Hunter's much-improved Lewis and Clark Tigers. The third game of Indian's Bob Biel makes a point to put the Tribe ahead in their game with Central Valley.

Teamwork and effort combine the season saw the locals drop favored West Valley in a top-notch 38-37 upset, and the Tribe next lost a heart-breaker to the then league-leading Gonzaga "Bull-Preps" 48-47.

The hoopsters penetrated the win column once again by trouncing Central Valley with a convincing margin of tallies, and vanquished the Wellesley Avenue Pirates 60-47 in the first game of the second half. The second game, too, was a reversal, as Lewis and Clark bowed to the Indians, 47-38, in the rematch of the two rival clubs.

The following week's battle saw the more experienced West Valley Eagles whip a revamped squad of Warriors, breaking its two-game come-to bring victory and recognition, back; but the fine playing of Bob Biel sparked a two-point victory over the title-minded Gonzagans the next week in one of the season's most exciting and perhaps the most outstanding game.

The closing game of the season saw the Braves tripped by Central Valley's Bears, and made official Gonzaga's first league title in several years.

At the annual awards banquet, Lee Walker was named captain-of-the-year by his teammates, and junior Bob Biel received the free-throw award. Although North Central failed to place any players on the city newspapers' all-city teams, Biel was named to a second-team berth for his record-breaking 27-point output in the Pup-Injun game. The speedy Indian guard, who this year averaged 11.5 tallies per game and placed among the top 10 city league scorers, is figured to be the stalwart of next year's Tribe.

but, win or lose,

B Squad hoopsters finished their highly successful basketball season in a three-way tie for first place with West Valley and Lewis and Clark.

Sparked by players like Norman Harding, Harold Thorsen, Jim Bickerstaff, George Solandros, Jerry Skogstad and Ernie Smith, the "junior Indians" matched their seven wins with only three losses in an early-season losing streak to Gonzaga, West Valley and Lewis and Clark. All three were avenged, however, by decisive victories in the closing games of the season. Biggest victory margin of the season was a 57-34 win over the league-leading Lewis and Clark Javees in the second half.

"Our team had one of the most successful seasons in years," Coach Kenneth Hagen commented. "Everyone on the squad had plenty of spirit and really wanted to play basketball, and I am sure there is plenty of potential for future varsities."

we gain new skills.

Although the one win and eleven loss record achieved by this year's freshmen basketballers is not impressive, experience gained from playing tough opponents during the season gives bright hopes for future seasons.

The city freshman league this year excluded junior high schools, so a triple round-robin was played among North Central, Lewis and Clark, West Valley, Gonzaga and Rogers. The papoose squad's single win was over Gonzaga, 35 to 30.

"This year's team was the smallest in several years," commented Coach Bennett.

Varsity baseballers "work out" with exercises before a preseason practice.

We join in King Baseball, a favorite.

With seven returning lettermen to form the nucleus of his squad, and with several of last year's first division B squadders bidding for starting assignments, Coach Al Manfred looked for a successful baseball season.

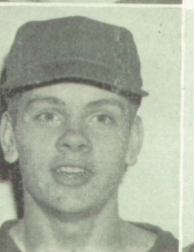

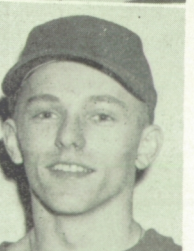

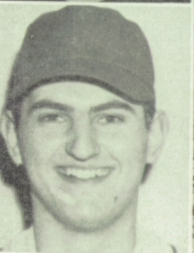

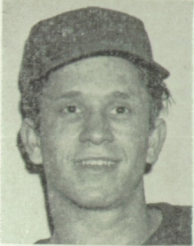

The infield sported five returnees from last year's ball club, with Laurie Ness behind the plate, Bob Lightfoot at first base, Jim Backman holding down second and Mike Tye "setting up shop" at shortstop.

Only one returning letterman, Dick Lightfoot, a stalwart from last season's team, patrolled the "pasture." Chuck Wilkes, Jim Porter and Ralph Burlock were candidates also for first-string berths.

Returning pitchers were Gordon Recor and Larry Reid. Bob Biel also worked hard in hopes of landing a starting role.

In addition to catcher Laurie Ness, Dick Lightfoot was prepared to take over the backstop duties.

Tribe baseballers begin their practices as early as March in order to be ready for league games, which begin at the end of April and continue almost until school closes. Most games are played on the schools' own diamonds.

In preseason games, the Indians dropped West Valley, 3-0, in three innings, and edged Gonzaga University's frosh, 11-10. When asked who he thought would be the strongest teams in the '55 campaign, Coach Manfred stated, "I feel that Lewis and Clark and Rogers are the teams to beat. North Central's finish in the league will depend on how the hurling stacks up."

Baseball prospects looked very good for future North Central teams as indicated by freshman and B baseball squads coached by William Diedrick and Bill Whitaker respectively. Both teams were dominated by summer park ball players and last year's second-place freshmen.

Freshman baseball players who practice and play many of their games at Garry Park had a heavy schedule to fill, and B squad-ers who opened their league season April 21, also played a heavy schedule, including several out-of-town engagements, to gain experience.

and Burrill Exley

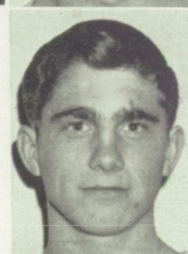

Track runners John McNee, Bob Nordlund, Ray Emerson and Alan Robinson come in on the "last lap" of a practice race.

We run relays and jump hurdles.

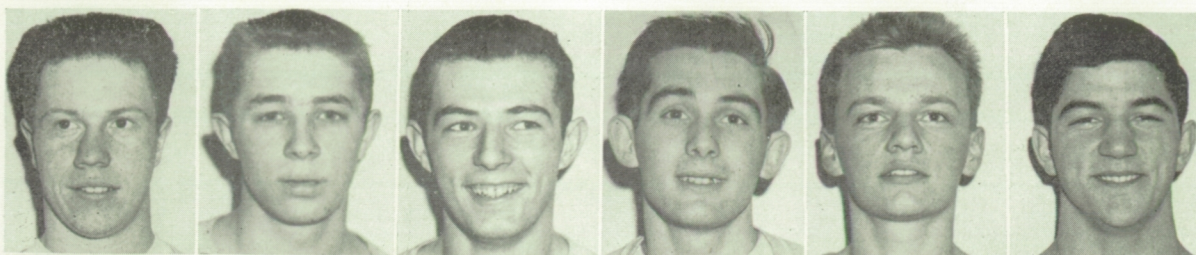

Prospects for North Central's track team this season appeared the brightest since 1951, the final year of the Indian's four-year domination of the city cinder loop. At Tamarack presstime, it looked as though the Redskins were assured of placing among the top squads, although first-place chances were slim.

"Other schools have too many established stars," Coach Al Danielson said. "With our returning lettermen and our sophomore strength, however, we have a bright future." Most of the stars who paced Havermale's championship last year were on the Warrior roster, as well as North Central freshmen who last year finished second. This combination with the returning lettermen should produce some top-notch performers.

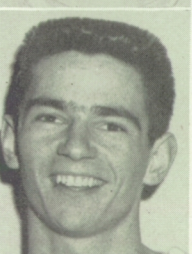

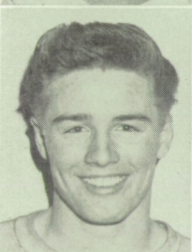

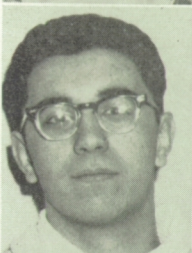

Six returning lettermen included broad jumper Bill Russell, shot-putter Ken White, distance men Alan Robinson and John McNee, hurdler Bob Nance, and sprinter Ken Berger. All except White, McNee and Berger were seniors.

Top-notch spring prospects were Ron Barber and Harold Thorsen. Bob Doyle, June Hanford and Ron Turner were among the newcomers pushing to the top. Tom Smith carried the load in the high jump, probably the strongest of the field events. Most promising in the pole vault were Larry Hale and Dick Throm. In the mile competition were senior Ray Emerson and junior George Dupree.

Freshman and B Squad track men worked out under the watchful eyes of Coach Al Danielson and his assistant, Burrill Exley, in preparation for their meets.

Both the B and Freshman squads had opening meets after spring vacation, with the freshmen playing in a relay meet at Rogers one week before their regular season opened. For the first time this season, the "Bees" had a schedule of their own, highlighted by an All-City tilt on the North Central playfield May 17.

Star cross-country runner Alan Robinson does a few laps.

Placing second in the city cross-country league, Coach Al Danielson's Redskin hill-and-dalers, completed another successful season last fall, as perennially strong Lewis and Clark swept to the title.

The Tribesmen were victors over Rogers and took second place in the Richland dual meet, to account for a fine squad.

Returning lettermen were Alan Robinson, John McNee, Ray Emerson, Larry Haunschild and Dick Baker. Ron Barber, Bob Thomas, Ron Turner, Austin Pagnotta, Doug Hohenstein, Daryl Bredesen and George Nickotich provided many points for the Red and Black runners.

"I was pleased with our showing in the league this year," Coach Alvin Danielson said.

Intramurals provide a chance to play for boys who would not otherwise participate in school sports, Mentor "Nip" Hagen said. Over 100 boys turned out for intramural basketball. "They worked hard at the game," he stated.

"Some fine varsity players are discovered following their participation in intramural sports," Head Coach Jerry Stannard commented. Coach Stannard urges high school boys to turn out for intramural activities. "A lot of enjoyment can be had by playing in these different fields," he added.

Larry Sleizer and Les Rider have a friendly match on a balmy day.

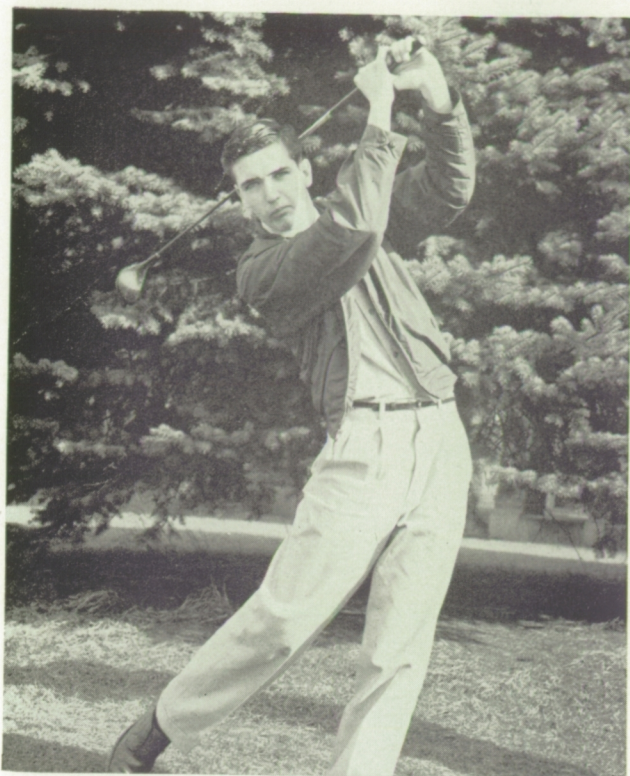

Bolstered by several returning lettermen and promising sophomore and junior prospects, Coach Ernest Hix's tennis squad prepared for a strong bid for league championship this spring.

Tribe netters played a round-robin schedule, meeting Gonzaga, Rogers, Lewis and Clark, West Valley and Central Valley one time each in league play.

North Central also entered the Inland Empire and Freshman Tournaments.

"With hard work and practice," said Coach Hix, "North Central could give defending Rogers a good run for their money, and end their two-year domination of the league."

Included in the upper six are seniors, Les Rider and Larry Sleizer; juniors, Ed Holm, Bob Large and Jerry Strand, and sophomore Marshall Reynolds.

Tom Anderson drives a long one down the fairway.

Coach Don Bonamy's golf team opened its season with a match against Gonzaga Prep which, although North Central was the loser, may well have been the incentive needed to raise the team from last year's third-place standing in the city league.

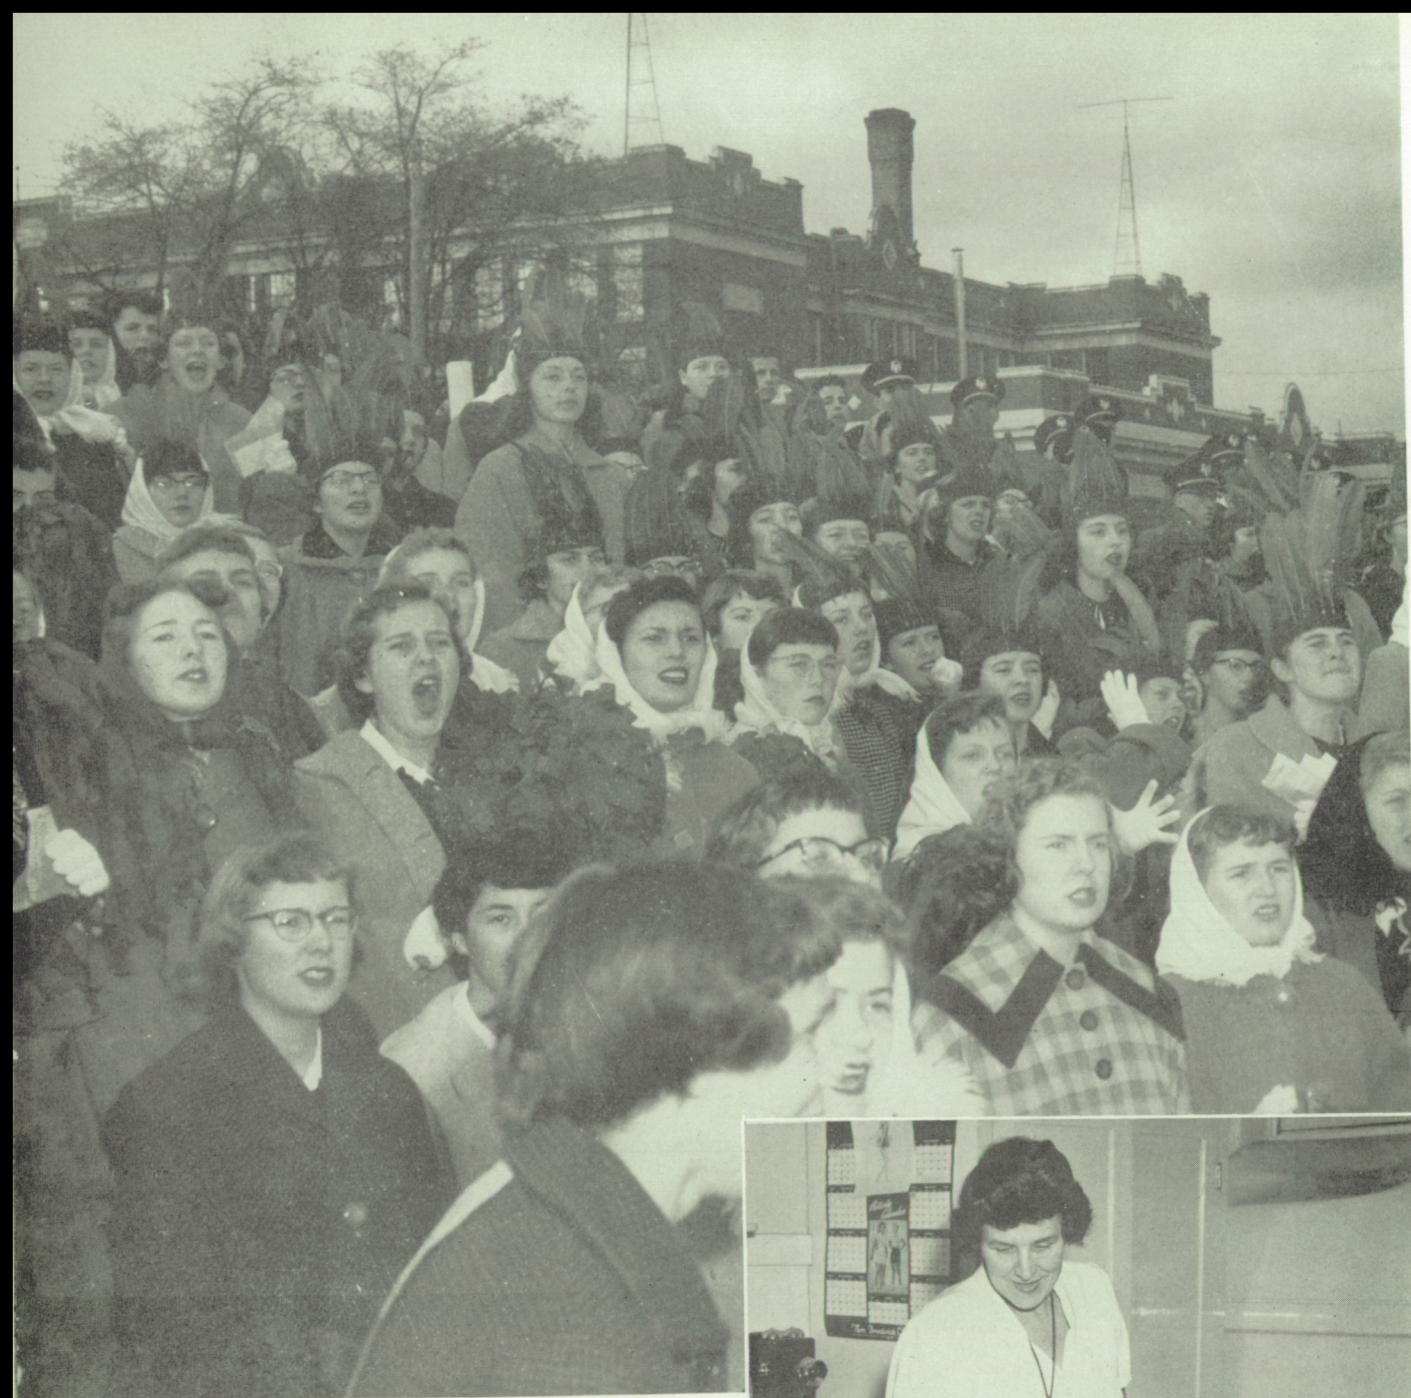

Competing in the Inland Empire High School Golf Tournament and the boys' and girls' mixed two-ball tournament again this year, the squad boasted three lettermen — Ron Meyer, Tom Anderson and Pat Kennedy — from last season's divot diggers.

Most girls take keen interest in athletics.

Opportunities in the girls' physical education program are highly varied. Intramural sports include volleyball, badminton, softball, basketball, track, swimming and horseback riding.

Ice skating, swimming, tennis and golf are also included in the curriculum as well as team sports and rhythmic fundamentals. Tennis and golf are offered, too, as interscholastic competitive sports. A course in first aid is given senior Red Feathers through the physical education department.

All-activity points are earned by the girls through participation in sports, special presentations, and other department activities. Any girl wishing to earn points fills out a card in the girls' gym office. Upon reaching 500 points, she receives a shield; 1000 points, a black star; 1500 points, another black star; and 2000 points, a gold star.

All senior Red Feathers are eligible to run for Football Princess or Spring Sports Princess. The three selling the largest number of tickets to football games or spring sports games, respectively, are in the final running. The Football Princess is presented with the traditional bracelet at a half-time stunt in the fall; and the Spring Sports Princess at a playfield convocation in the spring.

Highlight of the 1955 school year for 120 junior and senior Red Feathers was the "North Central Waltz" presented in the new Spokane Coliseum during the city-wide program, "Schools on Parade." Under the superb direction of Miss Elsa Pinkham, head of the girls PE department, and Miss Eleanor Dixon, they gave a stupendous performance.

Red Feathers was organized in 1938 by Miss Pinkham, starting out with only 18 girls, who chose the name "Red Feathers" for their unit.

Under the direction of Miss Eleanor Dixon, assistant girls' physical education director, the Color Girls, an organization for the promotion of school spirit, attend all the sports events thereby adding color and zest to the North Central varsity sports program.

Organized in 1930 by Miss Bertha Boehme for 20 freshmen and sophomores, the number has since grown to 80.

Golf

Thirty girls who turned out for golf this year were given free lessons each Tuesday, period 6 and after school, by Neil Christian, Downriver pro, from January through March at Highbridge. Then the group moved to Downriver golf course where they continued to play and to receive instructions. This season they competed only against Lewis and Clark. They are coached by Miss Wilhelmine Timm.

Most of the girls, according to Miss Timm, were relatively new at the sport this season. Mary Lou Nordby was captain of the team and Shirley Taylor was manager. Medal and two-ball foursomes are played in the spring.

Joan Prather, captain, on the green.

Tennis

Girls' tennis team, coached by Miss Pinkham, took second place in the city championship this year. Four games were played, one with each of the four schools—Rogers, Central Valley, West Valley and Lewis and Clark.

The girls practiced every Monday and Wednesday during period 6 and after school, and sometimes Saturday mornings.

Sally Smith and Joan Lamping were co-captains of the team for the fall semester; Karol Woodbury and Karen Kastberg, managers. Co-captains for the spring semester were Carol Daisley and Betty Jean Rohrer; managers were Karol Woodbury and Karen Kastberg.

Captain of the winning team, Joan Lamping, shoots for a point.

Basketball

Taking first place in the girls' basketball tournament in December with eight wins and no defeats were the "Spazie's Spazers," captained by Joan Lamping.

"Solseng's Senior Sinkers," captained by Connie Solseng, captured second place after a run-off with the Spazers.

Other teams and their captains were: "Sophomore Squaws," Bev Donley; "Alley Cats," Kay Sayles; "Dribblin' Fools," Sally Akan; "Fouling Fools," Janice Mast; "Dribblin' Dolls," Adele Fothergill; "Jolly Junior Jump-Ups," Sally Mills; "Mambo Mamas," Joan Somerville; "Sophomore Baskettes," Marjorie Stockton, and the "Bouncing Bloomers," Ardella Stockton.

VOLLEYBALL CAPTAINS — Dorothy Carmichael, Barbara Miller, Jeanette Schaeffer, Carolyn Greening, Liann Hass, Sally Smith.

Volleyball

Volleyball play opened in November with 160 girls turning out. They were divided into six teams, each playing five games. The tournament was held on Tuesdays and Thursdays after school.

Team I, captained by Liann Hass, took first place in the tournament by five wins and no defeats.

Captains of the other teams were; Team II, Dorothy Carmichael; team III, Sally Smith; team IV, Barbara Miller; Team V, Jeanette Schaeffer; and team VI, Carolyn Greening.

Fundamentals of volleyball are taught in the regular gym classes to prepare the girls for their after-school teamwork.

Badminton

"Watch the birdie!"

Badminton doubles were played every Tuesday and Thursday after school and Monday and Thursday morning in both the new and old gyms. In the singles division, following the doubles tournament, one loss eliminated a player.

The tournament was divided into four divisions. Capturing first place in their division were: Deanna Coleman and Carolyn Joyner; Lynn Kimberling and Gail Thompson; Sally Smith and Joan Vanderhoef; and Anita Sonderen and Anita Zehm.

Students managers were: Carol Jean Ellis, Liann Hass, Shirley Hill, Connie Solseng, Dianna Sheridan and Eileen West.

Manager Connie Solseng barely tips the birdie over the net for a point.

Swimming

To a group of 150 girls, who, regardless of aquatic ability enjoyed swimming, Monday night after school was swim night.

Throughout the year, activities of this group included perfecting Red Cross tests — beginning, intermediate and advanced — racing and "free" swimming.

Gym points for all-activity shields were earned by those who turned out for swimming. One gym make-up was given for each time a girl participated in the swim class.

Assisted by Adele Fothergill, chairman, the class met under the supervision of Miss Elsa Pinkham and Miss Eleanor Dixon in the North Central pool.

Practicing the Australian crawl are Donna Martinson, Joy Hallin, Alice Rae Collins and Linda Schatz.

Linda Barnard displays her skating ability.

Skating

Every Wednesday at 2 p.m., from November through March, the skating class leaves for the ice arena. The only qualifications necessary to be a member of this class is that one owns a pair of skates and has period 6 free. Thirty-eight girls and sixteen boys participated this year.

The skaters learned spirals, inside mohawks, three turn, figure eight, pivots and the Dutch waltz.

Girls earn points for attendance and tests. Gym make-ups may be earned for one gym day a week. Transportation to the arena was by Indian wagon. Miss Pinkham, Miss Allison and Miss Timm are the directors. Carol Armitage was chairman.

Margaret Montour, chairman of horseback riding.

Horseback Riding

"Oh . . . I'll never be able to sit down again!"

This is a common ailment the first few weeks of horseback-riding each year. Every Monday after school from early fall to late spring, for one hour students may go horseback-riding at the Seven Mile Riding Stables. Transportation is provided by the Indian wagon. Adviser for the group is Miss Eleanor Dixon, who drives them out to the stables.

Delight of the season is a two-hour riding class and a picnic at the Bowl and Pitcher. This year twenty-five boys and girls were enrolled.

Wide variety offered encourages participation.

HORSEBACK RIDING — Roy Baxter, Ruth Bass, Sandra Mielke, Sandra Weddle, Margaret Montour, Miss Dixon.

Sally Smith, Kathleen McKnight and Margie Ewy "play ball."

Softball

"Strike three — You're out!"

These words are heard often on early April mornings. From 7:30 to 8:15 on Tuesday and Thursday, three diamonds are kept busy by activities of over one hundred softball enthusiasts.

This year's six teams were supervised by Miss Dixon, with the help of managers Judie Merica, Marilynn Clark, Patc Quist and Dorothy Rudisile.

The teams play a single round-robin, an equivalent of five games, during the three weeks they compete for first place.

At the annual intramural track meet, May 23, girls participated in the basketball and baseball throw, broad and high jumps, shot-put, distance running and relay races.

Gym office workers check attendance daily, help keep individual records of each girl taking physical education, and assist Miss Pinkham and Miss Dixon when needed.

Locker monitors guard the locker room to protect articles from intrusion and disorder, while towel monitors distribute fresh towels each period. Supervising those taking rest are the restroom monitors.
